

I am concerned that the FCC is considering preempting state Telephone Privacy laws in favor of a federal law. Please leave state laws alone; as a citizen in Indiana, I currently enjoy not being bothered by companies who would otherwise disturb my time together with my family during dinner. Prior to Indiana's law, my phone rang nearly every evening.

Preempting Indiana's law will give companies the needed loophole they seek to again pester me and my family with their "petty peddling".
